

Grow your business through The Devine Group's top-of-the-line talent management solutions and services.

Partnering to improve talent management

The Devine Group's reseller program allows companies to connect with their customers in a new and innovative way through our talent management tools. Often, our reselling partners hold a niche within a certain marketplace, and their consulting expertise, combined with our expansive selection of talent management solutions and services, result in stronger client relationships and enhanced revenue opportunities.

We offer customizable options to our partners and will discuss the risks and rewards of each so that your company can make informed decisions about the types of services and solutions that best match up with your business model. We believe in establishing long-lasting partnerships to continue best practices beyond implementation and provide support services for all of our product resellers, ranging from executive search firms to management training consultants.

GROW YOUR BUSINESS THROUGH THE DEVINE GROUP

We offer integrated talent management solutions for the entire employee life cycle: hiring, onboarding, development, advancement and separation. These solutions support and improve people strategies and the achievement of business metrics. By partnering with The Devine Group, you can:

- Diagnose your clients' issues faster and provide objective data to reference
- Add value to your current offerings through enhanced services
- Build scalable, software-based, recurring revenue stream to your business
- Enhance strategic client relationships resulting in increased revenue opportunities and multi-year contracts

Our solutions lend themselves to C-level interaction by impacting executives' most valuable asset—their employees.

The Devine Group was founded on the principle of maximizing the essential elements of human performance in the workplace.

VALUABLE SUPPORT SERVICES

The Devine Group's professional services team assists our reseller partners with formal initial training and ongoing reinforcement guidance. Our trained staff will teach you about the breadth of our product offerings and how to share this knowledge with your customer base to increase the impact and profitability of your consulting services. In addition, our support team will provide your company with the marketing collateral, proposal templates and administrative support necessary to get up and running with The Devine Group. Our online training workshops are available free of charge to resellers so you will continue learning innovative ways to use Devine solutions within your consulting practice.

About The Devine Group

Established in 1970, The Devine Group has helped thousands of clients strengthen their organizations through innovative talent management tools. Our key human resource technology, experience and industry leading predictive models continually help organizations reduce costs, increase revenues and optimize productivity.

The Devine Group provides clients with human resource tools that span the employee life cycle, including talent acquisition, development and planning, and performance management. Our solutions are accessed through an online platform (Wingnut), allowing our clients a one-stop destination for their talent management needs.

By leveraging our tools with state-of-the-art statistical analysis techniques, we can estimate the performance and turnover improvement potential of both future and existing employees, saving our clients time and money on hiring and training expenses.

Our team consists of accredited and certified staff in the areas of I/O Psychologists, human resource generalists and statistical modeling and training specialists.

Our clients

Headquartered in Cincinnati, Ohio, our company has been a leader in assessments for over 40 years. Our professional solutions and services consistently impress our clients, which include PNC Bank, Chartwell Hospitality, Convergys, Talbert House, Check 'n Go, CareSpring and many more.